Johnson, 11 Unions Victor In GE Accord

Sudden Settlement Averts Nationwide Strike Set Monday

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson and 11 labor unions appear to have emerged the victors in a new contract settlement with General Electric Co. that forestalled a strike by 125,000 workers.

"It is a major victory for the Johnson administration," a government source said of the agreement boosting wages and fringe benefits an average of 51 cents an hour over three years.

The sudden settlement Friday after weeks of deadlocked talks averted a nationwide walkout scheduled for 12:01 a.m. Monday against the major defense supplier.

But strikes over local issues and grievances were still a possibility at some of General Electric's 160 plants.

The settlement saved Johnson the politically touchy decision on whether to invoke a Taft-Hartley Act injunction that was being drafted by the Justice Department.

AFL-CIO President George Meany, who had threatened to bring the major weight of the U.S. labor movement against the company in the event of a strike, called the settlement "a major accomplishment for collective bargaining."

It also was a victory for Paul Jennings, president of the AFL-CIO International Union of Electrical Workers which led the 11 negotiating unions.

It was the first major contract fight for Jennings, who replaced James B. Carey as the union's president last year after the Labor Department declared Carey's re-election fraudulent.

The conference board of the 80,000-member electrical workers union meets in New York Sunday and is expected to ratify the contract. The other unions will work out local plant issues and in most cases submit the contract to a vote of their members.

Meanwhile, in Pittsburgh the Westinghouse Electric Corp. and three unions agreed to extend their contract negotiations on a day-to-day basis until at least Tuesday. The decision came Friday a few hours before the union would have been free to strike at midnight. Westinghouse usually follows the lead of General Electric in contract negotiations.

Union spokesmen said the new General Electric contract includes an average of 28 cents per hour in wage increases over

Rubble Sifted For More

6 Dead, 150 Hurt In Iowa Tornado

BELMONT, Iowa (AP)—Law enforcement officers began a slow, methodical search today for possible additional victims of Friday's killer tornado that reduced much of the town to a pile of bricks and masonry.

Six persons were known dead and 150 or more injured in the wake of the twister, brewed by the same storm system that earlier produced a death-dealing blizzard in the Rocky Mountain states.

A cold, raw wind, accompanied by rain and occasional snow, made the grim task more difficult and cast a pall over the town that now resembles a battlefield.

Officers planned to sift through the rubble and debris of each building as thoroughly as possible and then affix tags to the front and rear so that there will be no wasted effort. They covered the same area Friday night, but decided on another search by the light of day.

At least 33 victims of the tornado remained hospitalized today, several of them reported in poor or critical condition. They were seriously. He expressed appreciation for the amount of medical help volunteered from within a 100-mile radius of the town.

Gov. Harold Hughes who has been touring the state with a bus caravan of Democratic political candidates, canceled a campaign speech in eastern Iowa Saturday morning so he could visit Belmont.

The Highway Patrol said traffic on U.S. 69 would be detoured around Belmont to keep out sightseers.

"If the people want to help us—stay away," Beaman said.

Maj. Gen. Junior F. Miller, Iowa adjutant general, said 150 National Guardsmen would aid in cleaning up and patrolling the streets.

The National Guard moved in four kitchen units to help feed townspeople.

The tornado struck at 2:55 p.m. just as a crowd that had watched a high school homecoming parade was breaking up. Few persons saw it coming.

The Weather Bureau in Des Moines said it was one of several tornadoes spawned by the collision of the cold front, which created the blizzard in Colorado and Wyoming earlier, with a tropical air mass that had given Iowa summerlike readings in the 80s earlier in the day.

7 Accidents Claim 7 Lives

Another Tragic Weekend Death Toll Looms In Ohio

By The Associated Press

Ohio may be off to another tragic weekend death toll. In the first 12 hours of the weekend period, seven accidents claimed as many lives in widely scattered areas of the state. The count continues until midnight Sunday.

Not since the last weekend in August has the state counted less than 20 dead on a weekend. State officials say if that pace continues, Ohio will set an all-time record by the end of the year.

The latest victims: Brainerd O. Scoggins III, 18, Milford, Hamilton County; James W. Hughes, 37, Rt. 3, Newark.

Willie Taylor, 21, Rt. 1, Washington, Ark.

Rebecca Jean Olsen, 24, Silvertown, Colo.

Philip S. Gordon Jr., 19, Columbus.

Hilda Metzger, 72, Louisville, Stark County.

James C. Gillentine, 28, Madison Township, Montgomery County.

Scoggins was injured fatally early Saturday when his car ran off Ohio 131 just north of U.S.

150 in Hamilton County, the Ohio Highway Patrol reported.

Hughes died in Licking County Memorial Hospital at Newark Friday night after his car struck a bridge on a rural road near Newark.

Taylor was killed Friday night when his car and another collided on Ohio 66 southwest of Sidney. Four other persons were injured.

The Colorado woman died in a two-car collision at the junction of Interstate 70 and U.S. 22 west of Cambridge, Guernsey County Friday night.

Gordon's sports car collided with another auto on U.S. 127 just south of Camden in Preble County Friday night.

Power Cut Off As Truck Bed Strikes Cable

Pole Top Snapped; Interruption Lasts About 30 Minutes

Power service in an area running from West Point to sections of downtown East Liverpool was interrupted Friday afternoon when a line was downed by road construction equipment near the Substation.

The Ohio Power Co. said a large dump truck being used on the construction of the new highway north of Route 170 was responsible.

The bed on the truck was left up and snagged an Ohio Bell Telephone Co. cable. The impact snapped the top off a 60-foot pole, knocking power lines. This in turn blocked off a breaker which affected the entire area.

The power was off for about 27 minutes and was restored at 4:25 p.m. Radio station WOHL was cut off the air as a result of the power interruption, which hit Glenmoor, Pleasant Heights, Shadyside and parts of the downtown section as well as the entire area north to West Point.

The mishap also cut electrical service to CATV of Ohio Valley, Inc., on Pleasant Heights, causing suspension of service to viewers until power could be restored. Jack Hales, CATV manager, said.

Pope Slates Canada Visit, Report Says

VATICAN CITY (AP)—Pope Paul VI has agreed to visit Canada next year during the Expo 67 World's Fair in Montreal, a reliable source in the Vatican said today.

No decision has been reached yet on the length of the pontiff's stay because the trip is still more than six months away, the source said.

Expo 67 has been scheduled from spring to fall 1967. It was believed the Pope would go in late spring or early summer provided no circumstances arise in the meantime to cause postponement or cancellation according to the source.

Pope Paul was said to have given word about the Canadian trip to his apostolic delegate in Ottawa, Archbishop Sergio Pignedoli.

It would be Pope Paul's fourth trip outside Italy since he became pontiff in June 1963. He flew to the Holy Land in January 1964, making his first papal plane trip in history.

MOSCOW (AP) — Soviet leader Leonid I. Brezhnev rejected today President Johnson's appeal for improving relations in Europe, saying the Viet Nam war prevents it.

"If the United States wants to develop mutual relations," Brezhnev declared, it must "remove the main impediment," the Vietnamese war.

The general secretary of the Soviet Communist party said the United States must halt its air raids on North Viet Nam and "stop its aggressive war against the Vietnamese people."

In a Kremlin speech, Brezhnev replied directly to President Johnson's New York speech of Oct. 7 urging improved East-West relations with emphasis on Europe.

War Prevents It

Brezhnev said Johnson presented the situation "in such a way that relations with the Soviet Union and other Socialist (Communist) countries can develop despite" the war in Viet Nam.

This is "strange and misleading," the Soviet leader declared. "We have said not once before but many times that if the United States wants to develop mutual relations it must remove the main impediment," Brezhnev said.

The Soviet leader attacked the Western alliance as outdated after declaring that Johnson in his speech had noted the changing world.

"But unfortunately," Brezhnev said, "in Washington they cannot draw the logical conclusions" from the changes.

Johnson's speech "quite clearly reflects the fact that the United States imperialists are still trying to settle problems in the military way of NATO (the North Atlantic Treaty Organization)," Brezhnev said.

"So far there can be no doubts about U.S. policy."

Without referring directly to the United States, Brezhnev noted that the possibilities of an international agreement to ban the spread of nuclear weapons were looking better.

Johnson discussed this on Monday with Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei A. Gromyko, who said then talks would go ahead.

"We welcome some moves which have appeared lately in this direction," Brezhnev said.

"We shall spare no effort to sign an agreement" that is of benefit to all, he added.

House OK's President's Cities Bill

Legislation Pushed For Social Security Increase By Jan. 1

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson's proposed attack on slum conditions in selected cities has cleared the House and moved a step closer to final approval by an adjournment-bent Congress.

The House passed the $1.17 billion demonstration cities bill by a 178-141 vote Friday night, overriding opposition arguments that the program would menace local government and be used as a lever to remedy racial imbalance.

The action capped a day chockful of major legislative developments and bolstered leadership hopes that the current session would be concluded next week.

And as Congress entered what may be its last weekend break before adjournment, drafting continued on legislation to put a Social Security benefit increase into effect next Jan. 1.

The big push to hike the benefits a year sooner than the President earlier recommended sputtered Friday, but the drive is still on. The House Ways and Means Committee scheduled a meeting Tuesday to continue discussions and expected to have actual drafts of two proposals before it. Indications are that a compromise would be worked out.

But in the Senate, Democratic leader Mike Mansfield said any such legislation would have to be the subject of hearings in that body. "I don't intend to delay adjournment," Mansfield added.

The demonstration cities bill approved by the House is similar to one passed earlier by the Senate. No difficulty is anticipated in working out differences.

The program is designed to use all available local and federal resources in social and physical rehabilitation in slum areas of cities to be selected later. The government would pick up the tab for most of what usually are local costs, as well as its own share.

The bill also would nudge metropolitan areas in the direction of area-wide planning for water, sewer, transportation, beautification and similar programs. Local sponsors would be required to work through existing area agencies and would receive bonuses for area planning.

This was one of the most controversial sections of the bill and was assailed by opponents as spelling the doom of local government. But a Republican-backed amendment to delete it failed.

The House refused to delete the $900 million authorization for the program's first two years operation. The measure also carries authorization for $24 million in planning money and $250 million in special urban rehabilitation aid for the demonstration cities. Actual funds depend on later appropriations.

Supporters of the measure backed successful amendments to spell out that none of its provisions was to be interrupted as requiring busing of school children or similar measures.

Aircraft Losses Pass 400

U.S. Planes Hit North Viet With Heaviest Assault

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — U.S. military headquarters announced today the war's heaviest raids over North Viet Nam and said American plane losses over the north had passed the 400 mark.

U.S. planes flew a record 175 missions against the north Friday, two more than the previous day when a new high was set. A U.S. spokesman said plane losses now totaled 403, a figure which included three previously unannounced losses.

In another development in the air war, U.S. B52s staged three raids today, including one bombing attack inside the embattled demilitarized zone and a second just south of the buffer area.

In the ground war, briefing officers reported only light and scattered action.

But the buildup of allied manpower continued as 239 Philippine officers and men arrived today to join the 1,000-man Philippine Civic Action Group already here. They were airlifted by U.S. planes from the Philippines to their base near the Cambodian border. The airlift will continue until the Filipino manpower reaches the scheduled 2,000 men in South Viet Nam.

In another development, it was reported in Saigon that the nation's war-burdened economy appeared to have done a turnaround — from inflation to mild recession. Businessmen blamed the dip on new import rules and a shipping logjam.

Elsewhere, Viet Cong raiders, using mines, blew up a Vietnamese military dispensary 28 miles southwest of the coastal city of Quang Ngai. The dispensary was used by militiamen and their families.

A Vietnamese spokesman said four militiamen and three civilians were killed and one militiaman and eight civilians were wounded. He said 26 rooms of the dispensary compound collapsed.

Along the central coast about 30 miles north of Qui Nhon, South Vietnamese units engaging in a combined operation with American and Korean troops reported killing 21 Viet Cong and capturing 49 today in two actions. The captives included 10 women soldiers, a Vietnamese spokesman said.

The record 175 multiple missions over North Viet Nam Friday included about 450 to 500 individual plane strikes.

They included attacks for the second straight day on a surface-to-air missile site 13 miles northwest of Dong Hoi. Pilots reported fires burning when they left the area.

Other fliers reported starting seven fires in a marshalling yard on the North Vietnamese coast 40 miles southeast of Dong Hoi and just north of the demilitarized zone. In this raid, U.S. pilots said they also set fire to two storage depots in the transportation point.

Navy planes from the carrier Coral Sea made rocket attacks on 12 barges 35 miles south of Thanh Hoa. Pilots reported damaging 10 of the 40-foot barges.

Over-all, pilots said they destroyed or damaged 50 barges, 26 bridges, 32 storage buildings, three missile sites and five anti-aircraft gun positions.

Young Zionists' Invasion Hit

U.N. Diplomatic Storm Continues In Full Force

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP)—A diplomatic storm continued in full force today as Asian, African and Soviet delegates protested the invasion of Syria's U.N. mission in New York by a band of young Zionists.

The controversy appeared headed toward a possible U.N. debate on steps to protect foreign embassies and diplomatic personnel all over the world. It also has revived private talk about moving U.N. headquarters away from the United States.

U.S. Ambassador Arthur J. Goldberg suggested Friday night that the whole question of incidents involving embassies was a matter for concern and might be considered by the United Nations. This view was echoed by others, including the representative of Japan.

But Asian and African countries were primarily concerned with increasing incidents in New York. In a statement drafted at an emotion-packed meeting they went beyond the incident at the Syrian mission to complain about "various assaults made in the past against personnel of other missions."

They called upon the United States to take urgent steps to punish the 19 young men and women who invaded the Syrian mission and to act to ensure the safety of all U.N. diplomats. They also decided to launch a formal protest through U.N. Secretary-General U. Thant.

The controversy was sparked when the Zionist group entered the Syrian office a few blocks from U.N. headquarters just as the U.N. Security Council was beginning a procedural wrangle over an Israeli complaint against recent incidents on the Syrian border.

Four girls and 15 young men entered the mission, on the 25th floor of an office building at 757 Third Ave. Police finally led them away. They were charged with trespassing, unlawful intrusion and disorderly conduct and released pending a hearing Nov. 25.

The council debate on the Israeli complaint went into a night session with a new flurry of comments on the incident at the Syrian mission. The meeting was adjourned shortly after midnight and was scheduled to resume Monday afternoon.

Bill Creates 12th Seat In Cabinet

LBJ OKs Measure Setting Secretary Of Transportation

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson signs legislation today enlarging his cabinet to 12 members by creating a secretary to coordinate the nation's air and land transportation policies.

As the second Cabinet-level agency to be approved by Congress in two years, the new department will bring into one agency a myriad of activities now scattered throughout the government.

The White House said Johnson would sign the measure in ceremonies in the East Room with members of Congress, federal officials and transportation industry leaders looking on.

The new department, destined to have 90,000 employees and an annual budget of nearly $6 billion, will come into formal existence 90 days after the President appoints a secretary.

Even before the bill-signing ceremony, rumors were afloat in Washington — with no confirmation whatever from the White House — that Presidential Assistant Joseph Califano might be selected as secretary of transportation.

Califano, regarded as an authority on the economics of transportation, helped push through Congress the administration's proposal to establish the new department.

There also had been rumors that Alan S. Boyd, undersecretary of commerce for transportation, might be in line for the post. But Boyd, reached at Miami, Fla., said, "I've heard nothing about it."

Unlike the Department of Housing and Urban Development created last year, the transportation agency won final congressional approval in the same year the proposal was submitted to Congress.

Brought together in the new department are the Bureau of Public Roads from the Commerce Department, the independent Federal Aviation Agency, the Coast Guard from the Treasury Department and some functions of the Civil Aeronautics Board and the Interstate Commerce Commission.

Big Satellite Due Launch By Russians

MOSCOW (AP)—Communist sources in Moscow said today the Soviet Union is expected to launch a large satellite carrying several men next week.

The sources reported, without confirmation, that the launching likely would take place Wednesday or Thursday from Baikonur, the secret Soviet space center in central Asia.

The launch will be watched by Communist leaders of several East European countries who are coming to Moscow to discuss the China problem, the sources said.

According to the sources, a Soviet bloc discussion of developments in China could lead to some joint statement condemning Chinese policy. Most of the other Communist parties have denounced the Chinese stand.

the three years, plus cost-of-living increases up to a maximum of 10.5 cents an hour in two annual steps, improved insurance, pensions, vacations and a ninth paid holiday.

David Lasser, assistant to Jennings, said the contract gains averaged about 5 per cent a year, in line with other recent big labor settlements. General Electric workers averaged $2.85 per hour under the old contract, plus fringe benefits which brought the hourly total to an estimated $3.25.

Informed sources said virtually nothing was mentioned by White House mediators during the negotiations about Johnson's economic guidelines which seek to limit wage increases to 3.2 per cent a year.

When he obtained a two-week postponement of the strike deadline Oct. 2, Johnson named as special mediators Secretary of Labor W. Willard Wirtz, Secretary of Commerce John T. Connor, Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara and William E. Simkin, Federal Mediation Service director.

The White House panel reportedly told the negotiators a settlement had to be reached Friday or a Taft-Hartley Act injunction would be invoked to delay a strike for 80 days.

It was learned the injunction would have been applied only to General Electric's plants involved in critical defense work. The company, with annual sales of more than $6 billion, makes aircraft engines, guns, radar, bombsights and other military equipment used in Viet Nam, as well as a multitude of consumer goods.

Rep. Powell Faces Arrest In New York

NEW YORK (AP)—A state Supreme Court justice has authorized any New York sheriff to arrest Rep. Adam Clayton Powell for civil contempt, but the order can only be carried out when Congress is in recess. Powell, whose arrest was authorized in a similar action in 1954, has avoided appearing in the state when not protected by his congressional immunity. Both orders grow out of Powell's failure to pay a $164,000 libel judgment.

Justice Wilfred A. Waltemade directed Friday that sheriffs detain Powell on sight and confine him until the defamation judgment is paid. The arrest order does not apply outside New York or on Sundays within the state.

The Harlem Democrat was found guilty Monday of criminal contempt for willfully ignoring five subpoenas requiring him to appear in court for financial examinations in connection with the libel case.

If sentenced on the criminal charge, Powell would lose his congressional immunity to arrest. He faces a maximum sentence of 150 days in jail and a $1,250 fine.

Powell has been ordered to pay the libel judgment to Esther James, 63, a retired domestic worker. He was found guilty of libeling Mrs. James on a 1960 television program when he said she was a "bag woman" or collector of payoffs for corrupt policemen.

PORTSMOUTH, Ohio (AP)—Police Sgt. John Wales and Charles Hickman ripped the seemingly calmed waters of a threatened police strike here when they submitted their resignations Friday. Others were reported doing likewise in protest of a decision to call off the walk-out.

The majority of the 53-man force had voted to hold off on strike plans, taking "in good faith" a city council promise to look into possible higher salaries. Portsmouth police, who start at $5,200 a year, originally asked $125 a month more but indicated they would compromise.

Are You Getting Lopsided?

Ida Jean Kain

It's alarming that human beings can fall into faulty posture habits, habits that can actually cause them to become lopsided.

Then the body is out of alignment and the weight distribution is unequal, it can happen.

For example: A new mother can get into the habit of carrying the baby propped on one hip. Soon she has a definite shelf on that side and a prominent hip. School children who carry their load of books repeatedly on one side, tend to become lopsided. Book carrying should be in alternate arms from day to day. A woman who carried a heavy shoulder bag all ways on one shoulder was alerted to the consequences by her dressmaker. That shoulder was perceptively lower than the other shoulder.

THE HABIT of standing on one foot, allowing the weight to sink down, throwing out one hip, is quite common.

I have just changed my desk around and had the telephone moved, so that now I lean in another direction to answer the phone while typing. I was in danger of getting lopsided. This went undetected until a skirt appeared slightly shorter on one side. It can happen.

It's all too easy for young girls to fall into faulty posture habits, particularly of rounding the shoulders. Not infrequently mothers will write to ask if shoulder braces will help in such a situation.

Not unless an orthopedic specialist recommends it. The girl is likely to sink into the brace and further weaken the muscles. If a brace is worn, it should be merely a supplementary measure to corrective exercises.

Often too, faulty nutrition is the real cause of the trouble. The child doesn't feel up to sitting and standing straight. With school children the worst habit is skipping or skipping breakfast. The relationship between a good nutritional status and posture is close.

Beginning corrective exercises should be taken under the supervision of a specialist, otherwise the exercise intended to correct may bring on another posture fault.

A MOST heartening story came from a young mother who felt she was beyond the point of return to good posture. Caring for the new baby left her worn out before the day was half over. Shown the proper exercise routine, she now has new strength and outlook.

"The posture exercise worked a miracle! I am no longer exhausted by mid-afternoon."

Practice her exercise. Lie on back on floor with feet elevated to low bench, arms down at sides, backs of hands on floor. Flex right knee to chest as both arms are circled around on floor until extended beyond head.

Return foot to bench and swing arms down to sides. Continue, bending alternate knees, and circling with both arms, always keeping backs of wrists on floor as you circle. As alternate knees are flexed, pull up and in with abdominal muscles to floor.

Over 70,000 Expected In 1966-67

Record 66,586 Patents Issued During Fiscal Year

WASHINGTON (AP)—Americans are the most inventive people in the world and they've got the U.S. Patent Office swirling in acres of paper.

The end of American inventiveness isn't in sight but the Patent Office already has taken steps to ease its paper crush — by ordering the installation of a $2 million microfilm system for patent documents.

A record 66,586 patents were issued during the fiscal year which ended June 30 — the vast majority of them to Americans — and the figure this year is expected to exceed 70,000.

That's a far cry from the Patent Office's first year of operation when only three were issued — the first on July 31, 1790, to Samuel Hopkins of Pittsford, Vt., for an improvement in "the making of pot ash and pearl ash by a new apparatus and process."

Since 1836 when the current numbering system began, the office has issued 3,278,942 patent numbers — the latest Tuesday to Hoel L. Bowditch of Foxboro, Mass., for an invention called "industrial chart recorder with special inking pen."

One problem still nagging the Patent Office, in addition to the acres of documents it must keep on file, is the time it takes to process patent applications, which are being filed at a rate approaching 100,000 yearly. The average time has been reduced from 3½ to 2½ years with a goal of 18 months by 1970.

The office figures its inventories of patent copies cover more than two acres of storage space. It receives more than 25,000 orders daily for these copies from business, industrial, scientific and technical sources throughout the world.

The new microfilm system, scheduled to go into operation in June 1968, will relieve much of this paper burden and even save the taxpayers about $500,000 annually, the office says.

The system will produce, on order, a printed paper copy of an individual patent and make available for public inspection microfilm files of patents arranged by subject matter.

City To Disburse $38,877 For 219 To Pay Off Bills

Checks will be mailed over the weekend to 219 individuals and suppliers in payment of $38,877.74 in bills against the city, representing virtually all the accounts owed up to Oct. 1. Auditor Lawrence J. Zollinger and Treasurer Bert A. Dawson said today.

The checks range in amount from $1 to $11,000, the officials said.

The big disbursement was made possible by a $60,000 real estate tax settlement received Oct. 3, they said. It represents payment for virtually all bills incurred until Oct. 1, they added.

The officials said they try to make it a practice to make such payments prior to the 20th of each month in order that the checks will clear the banks well in advance of the end of the month. In that way, no checks are outstanding when the city's books are balanced at the end of the month.

Dawson and Zollinger said they expect to continue the regular monthly settlement of the bills so that no old accounts will be carried into the new year.

People In News

CHATTANOOGA, Tenn. (AP)—A Marine in Viet Nam who said he couldn't find a wedding anniversary card in the bookshelves to send to his wife, did all right by her anyhow.

He wished her well in a page-one headline in Friday's Chattanooga News-Free Press that said, "From your Marine in Viet Nam, happy anniversary, Mrs. Randolph."

The Marine was Gunnery Sgt. Bob L. Randolph who sent the newspaper $6 several weeks ago asking it to run an advertisement "to let my wife know I have not forgotten her on this special day of her life and mine."

The result was the headline and an accompanying story. The $6 went for roses for Mrs. Randolph. The couple has been married 13 years.

NEW YORK (AP)—Sen. and Mrs. Robert F. Kennedy are going to have their 10th child sometime next spring, a spokesman in the senator's New York office disclosed Friday.

The Kennedys have six boys and three girls with the youngest, Matthew Taylor, 21 months old.

Mrs. Kennedy, the former Ethel Skakel, was reported "doing fine."

CHICAGO (AP)—A Chicago woman has given birth to her third set of twins—her eighth and ninth children in seven years.

Patricia Stahlberg, 30, commented after-ward, "I'm on my third washing machine now."

The twins, Diane and Debra, were born Tuesday. The other twins are Susan and Scott, 7, and Julie and Jennifer, 14 months.

Mrs. Stahlberg's husband, Donald, 31, is a music teacher.

Spock, 63, author of "Baby and Child Care," says he "almost certainly" will move to New York where SANE has its national headquarters.

PADUCAH, Ky. (AP)—Attorney James Apple researched himself out of a job. Apple found out during a study of state laws that 30 is the minimum age to serve on the Paducah Civil Service Commission.

Apple resigned from the commission Friday. He is only 29.

In Pennsylvania Governor Race

Shapp And Shafer Keep Hammering Each Other

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—Democrat Milton J. Shapp, in formally opening his campaign for governor, said the middle initial of his Republican opponent, Lt. Gov. Raymond P. Shafer, stands for "phony." A few days later, Shafer said Shapp was obsessed with personal power and wild-eyed schemes.

These were, as it turned out, some of the milder things Shapp and Shafer have been saying about each other in a campaign devoted more to invective than to issue.

Both parties admit to a certain amount of frustration in finding a clear-cut, central issue.

Shapp's campaign is built primarily on two themes: Pennsylvania has not progressed in these recent years of national prosperity as rapidly as her sister states, and a program of free higher education for all Pennsylvania youths, to be financed by a $4-billion to $5-billion bond issue.

Shafer is running on the record of Gov. William W. Scranton's administration and says Shapp is a "prophet of gloom and doom" who would spend the state into bankruptcy. Shafer has likened Shapp to "an old medicine man who bottled up a lot of worthless promises and is trying to flim-flam the public into buying them."

Shapp has said Shafer and other Republican leaders "are either financial idiots or knaves," adding: "In my opinion, they are both."

Scranton, ineligible to succeed himself under state law, solidly supports Shafer, his second in command the past four years. He has described a Shapp position as "numskullery," and has said:

"Our opponent is obsessed with power. He will do anything, say anything, promise anything, spend any amount of money to get what he wants."

Two campaign publications have set off controversies.

Democrat David L. Lawrence, the governor before Scranton, has accused the Republicans of "committing a great fraud on the President of the United States." This was a reference to a publication put out by the GOP State Committee which quotes Johnson as saying "Pennsylvanians have a lot to be proud of. You have been a leader" and listing a number of things such as education. Johnson made those comments in a "nonpolitical" visit to a Dallas, Pa., centennial celebration this summer.

"I've checked it out with the White House and I've been authorized to say the President's references were to the past and not the present state government," Lawrence told a $100-a-plate fund-raising dinner.

"Sneaky, measly, arrogant and shoddy." That's the way Republican Sen. Hugh Scott described the distribution of a 48-page booklet at a Shafer dinner in Philadelphia. Using as its title a frequent quote from Shafer — "Something wonderful is happening in Pennsylvania," it showed pictures of slum areas, polluted streams, and poverty-stricken people — and urged a vote for Shapp.

Shapp, a Philadelphia businessman, spent $14 million of his personal fortune to upset the Democratic organization candidate in the primary. These huge expenditures have been a major GOP target.

In return, Shapp has claimed that Shafer "is bankrolled by the Republican party's traditional fat-cat hidden bosses, and these bosses have him on a string."

Adds Shapp: "Nobody has bought me."

Several polls of voter sentiment all have shown Shafer, 48, a Meadville attorney and Yale law graduate, is ahead. However, Shapp, 52, is not far behind, and the number of voters who say they have formed no opinion is huge — as much as 50 per cent in some cases.

Social Security And Politics

President Johnson's proposal for a 10 per cent increase in Social Security benefits is viewed by many as a move to bolster his sagging popularity and make hay for the Democratic party.

Republicans countered immediately by saying the benefits are needed and should be instituted even sooner than proposed by President Johnson. More political hay.

Talk about increased benefits comes at a time when the working man and his employer have not yet absorbed cost of the last raise.

A sure way to increase vote-getting power is to propose an increase in retirement income. It is political suicide to oppose such a proposal.

Someone is going to have to realize and very quickly that the system of financing Social Security is reaching a breaking point.

When the program was enacted in 1935, the employer and employee paid one per cent each on a maximum salary base of $3,300.

On Jan. 1, the payroll tax will be 44 per cent for each on wages of $6,600. By 1987, increases already approved by Congress will amount to 5.65 per cent yearly—11.3 combined.

This will carry the total paid by both employee and employer past the theoretical 10 per cent ceiling some experts feel will result in a political backlash to halt further increases.

Compounding the problem is the fact the Social Security system now is paying for medicare and its expense surely will increase as the project gets rolling.

Legislators are going to have to come up with a plan such as an escalator clause for automatic cost-of-living increases, or something similar, to take Social Security out of politics.

Also, something has to be done about financing. Another source of funds for the program has to be found. The general treasury probably will get the tap.

The whole financial system may have to be overhauled. The wage-earner is reaching the end of his payroll rope.

The Evolution Of A System

Observers striving for objectivity in politics are fascinated by a thing happening inside the familiar two-party system.

The thing cannot be stated in general terms because it has taken different forms in different circumstances. But when 1966 election returns have been analyzed, observers will not be surprised if they find significant similarity in both circumstances and forms.

They are prepared to find evidence that the two-party system in its familiar form is changing into a less familiar form. This form hardly can be called new, but it must be thought of as unfamiliar, because in most parts of the country it will be a novelty.

This unfamiliar form — the novelty — has the Democratic-Republican division of political opinion changing into an in-and-out division of opinion.

Americans have long been accustomed to throwing out one set of "rascals" and throwing in a new set. But they have done this in most places within the framework of the Democratic and Republican parties.

There now is a drift away from this traditional framework.

Party-line Democrats in the South are being found in the camp of Republicans, not because they have ceased to be Democrats but because they are mad at a Democratic administration in Washington.

In many congressional races in the rest of the country, candidates are seeking favor on their names alone; they are avoiding party labels. One of these races is in Ohio's 1st district, where Robert Taft is avoiding Republican identity in a bid to unseat a Democrat.

Many Democratic candidates who went into office in 1964 on President Johnson's coat-tails are staying as far away from his coat-tails as they can in 1966.

Businessmen presumably dedicated to Republicanism are lending their prestige and giving generously of their money to causes favored by the Johnson administration.

It is still a matter of lively interest to political scientists that many voters who always had thought of themselves as Republicans were driven out of the Republican party by its Goldwater leadership in 1964 and no longer think of themselves as party-line partisans but only as supporters or opponents of the Johnson administration.

The two-party system in its familiar form may be breaking up, to be replaced by an adversary system in which the division would lie between ins and outs.

President Johnson's striving for government by consensus has not brought the consensus, but it may have delivered a damaging blow to the Democratic-Republican alignment of political support.

Ballot Issues

WASHINGTON

A question asked often since enactment of the draft law is: If a young man of 18 can be required to fight and maybe die for his country, shouldn't he also be allowed to vote?

Michigan voters will give their answer in the Nov. 8 elections, voting on a proposed constitutional amendment to lower the voting age in that state from 21 to 18.

Only four states now have a minimum voting age below 21. In Georgia and Kentucky it is 18, in Alaska 19 and in Hawaii 20.

The proposed Michigan amendment is one of several hundred questions to go before voters in various states in November, either as constitutional amendments or referenda. Nearly all states have one or more issues on the ballot.

ALSO IN THE field of voting laws are questions arising from the increasingly mobile nature of the United States population.

One result of this shifting about is that on election day, thousands are unable either to vote in the state they left or to meet the residence requirements of the state into which they have moved.

Florida will vote on a proposal to amend its one-year residence requirement to allow otherwise qualified persons who have moved into the

Letter From Max

Dear Truman Twill:

It was disconcerting to read your paragraph about how the putty always looked wavy after you patched up your storm windows with it.

Are you trying to cause trouble for the rest of us?

Most of us haven't even thought about putting storm windows in yet, let alone repainting them. I suppose you even have all your fall flower bulbs planted, your lawn reseeded and your garden laid out for next year.

But even with such efficiency, you probably will bewail the outcome next summer, just as you lament your all-thumbs puttying.

Now, the way to get a professional-looking putty job on windows is to hold the putty knife like this, press it at an angle against both the glass and the sash and then with a long steady motion draw it along.

It is having enough patience to perform the long steady motion that assures a clean job without any waves. Well, hardly any waves.

It was nice to hear you admit your clumsiness. Most people would have blamed the consistency of the putty or some other thing such as having the wrong kind of putty knife.

ALL THIS gets back to something else you wrote a while ago about the satisfaction of work. You were counseling young people to take pride in earning a few bucks and in the sweat necessary for this.

So the putty on your storm windows is wavy. At least the glass won't fall out and the cold wind come through. Besides, who is to judge your job, which probably is judged harshly by yourself because you know where every flaw is?

It may seem a far cry from your puttying to an expensive Oriental rug but such rugs often have minor errors in the repetition of the pattern because they are hand-woven. That is why they are so expensive — because they are hand-woven. That is why there are mistakes in them—because they are made by hand. Get it?

state to vote in national but not in state and local elections. The state reports its population increased by 2,000 persons a week last year.

North Dakota has up for decision a proposal to let new residents vote for president and vice president.

In Washington, one of a number of constitutional amendments to be passed on would permit otherwise qualified citizens to vote for president if they have lived in the state at least 60 days. The residence requirement now is one year.

WISCONSIN has this referendum question: Shall the residence requirement for voting be reduced from one year to six months?

In Texas, a proposed constitutional amendment to be passed on by the electorate would allow members of the armed forces to vote in Texas upon satisfying the residence requirements applicable to Texans in general.

This would bring the Texas provision in line with a 1965 Supreme Court ruling that members of the armed services who had become bona fide residents of Texas must be enfranchised. The prior Texas practice limited voting by members of the armed services to those who had entered the service from Texas.

That is why the world in which we live is not perfect, because it is made by hand. Get that?

TAKE THE BEAUTIES of the month of October. They are perfect because they are made by someone else. But that is another subject.

All of the above was just a sneaky way of getting around to the Declaration of Independence, which says our "unalienable rights" include "the pursuit of happiness."

The Declaration did not guarantee anybody happiness. It just guaranteed "the pursuit of happiness."

Even though you are not completely happy with the outcome of your puttying you sure were happy while you were doing it in pursuit of a good job well done. Fess up, Twill, you were happy, weren't you?

Keep up the good work.

Sign Post To Wisdom And Truth

Beware Of Unspoken Issues

By Raymond Moley

In this political campaign, as in every campaign, there are two sets of issues.

One is what the Republicans and some Democrats are talking about — the conduct of war, inflation, crime, centralized government and the credibility gap.

The other issues are not mentioned, at least not in the oratory of responsible candidates, but they will weigh heavily in the voters' verdict in November.

These issues are in the minds and emotional reflexes of the American people. You don't hear voters talking about them. They seldom reveal them to the pollsters. But they are there, and really smart and experienced candidates know they are there.

Democrats like LBJ try to counter them with catalogues of what the 89th Congress has provided in benefits.

The decisive factors in a political campaign are like an iceberg. There is what you see and the greater part that you don't see.

MOST IMPORTANT of these hidden factors is a revolt against the "ins."

Despite a long stretch of national prosperity and despite a lot of handouts, most Americans are not happy. They see their future with apprehension, as through a glass darkly. And since government takes so much credit for things nowadays, unhappy people blame government for what they don't like.

This revolt against the "ins" has shown itself in primaries where Democratic stalwarts have been defeated. In a few instances it shows itself in resentment against Republicans in office.

In New York, Gov. Nelson Rockefeller is desperately fighting against a tide of unpopularity.

People are sick of hearing and reading about Congress. This long session, running into the 10th month, is getting on our nerves. We believe it should have wound up its business in six months.

Voters seldom vote for someone or something. They vote against somebody or something.

Franklin Roosevelt wasn't chosen in 1932; Herbert Hoover was rejected. John Kennedy wasn't chosen in 1960; Richard Nixon was defeated because people were not happy about what Dwight Eisenhower had done.

Reason is not dominant in political decisions. Habit and emotion take over.

THE WAR in Viet Nam is unpopular. Some believe we should never have got into it. Others believe we haven't been fighting effectively. Both sentiments are aimed at LBJ.

Call it what you will, there is also growing resentment against the Negro community. In part this is directed against Negro leaders and their white co-workers.

Demonstrations have become wearing on people's tolerance. The rise of black power has intensified the reaction. Americans don't like to be threatened. And, somehow, the rise in the crime rate is attributed to the Negro revolution.

Not a little of the white emotional response is directed at Democrats for their responsibility in holding out expectations to Negroes that cannot be fulfilled. It has been the party in power that has sought Negro votes by raising impossible expectations. For that, white politicians are blamed.

A close student can see, by an examination of the legislation which LBJ is telling about in his impassioned speeches, the benefits that have been provided for countless people. But the average voter doesn't understand these measures.

Despite all the blessings the old reaction takes place: "What have you done for me lately?"

FINALLY, there is the unhappy fact that while Lyndon B. Johnson is regarded as a strong and active president, he is not loved as some presidents have been loved in the past.

Theodore Roosevelt was loved and admired. Woodrow Wilson was admired and respected until his final two years in office. Calvin Coolidge was amusing. F.D.R. was loved. And Mr. Eisenhower held his popularity even though there was some disagreement with his policies.

John F. Kennedy was a winsome and attractive figure whose personality might have surmounted the difficulties now encountered by his successor.

Lingering doubts mar the image of LBJ. Some of these rise from a feeling that his assurances cannot be believed. Even when he is most vehemently sincere he cannot wrap himself in the folds of public acceptance.

Democratic candidates running for re-election sense this, and few are now talking about "all the way with LBJ." In general, the President, despite his good intentions, is no longer an asset to his party.

These hidden issues may be unfair. But they are stark realities which no oratory, either Democratic or Republican, can change. They may well prevail when the votes are cast in November.

EDITOR OF THE REVIEW:

Many people in East Liverpool knew Worthie Varner Jr. as the man with the friendly smile.

To Linda, Kathy and John he was daddy. To them he was a wonderful father and to me he was a wonderful husband. We all loved and respected him and if I could write a letter with a thousand pages I could never appropriately pay tribute to my dearest husband and wonderful father.

All who knew him miss his friendly smile and his doing things for others—always doing good and never asking anything for himself. He never fussed about his cares and troubles, just figured they were part of living. The world could do with more like Worthie Varner Jr.

The GOP Raises Questions

President Johnson refers to Republicans as the "party of fear," but Republican leaders in Congress use different words.

Everett Dirksen of Illinois, Senate minority leader, declares the Republican party and the people are "concerned" about the Johnson administration and "the many unwise courses it has chosen to take."

Mr. Dirksen says the country is "concerned" because the Johnson administration is floundering, particularly in international policy, and there is genuine "concern" lest on the domestic side the nation is "being led down the road to national bankruptcy."

Rep. Gerald R. Ford of Michigan, House minority leader, expressed astonishment that President Johnson is willing to butter up the Russians with trade benefits while "American boys fight, bleed and die in Viet Nam" and Communist Russia continues to increase "its economic and military aid to our enemies." He declares:

"This administration must stop—and stop now—its trafficking with the Russians in ways that can only result in Communist encouragement, growth and enrichment."

Rep. Ford refers to the President's speech in New York listing a number of concessions the U.S. government is willing to make to improve commercial relations with Communist-bloc countries.

The Michigan congressman points especially to Mr. Johnson's statement that "this is good business and will help us." Mr. Ford then comments:

"If dealing with the enemy—who are dealing in nothing but death to Americans in Viet Nam—is good business, then truth and honor have indeed been perverted beyond recall by this administration."

"Until the Communist world convinces us by act, not by word, that it not only seeks peace but will so act as to preserve peace among men, we will not be a party to any deal, any agreement, any arrangement, any treaty with Communists anywhere in the world."

"Until we—and our allies—commit ourselves without qualification to such a policy of strength we can expect only more Koreans, more Viet Nams and an ever-widening spread of Communist subversion, deceit and death—dealing around the globe."

UNFORTUNATELY, much of what is being said about making peace in Viet Nam is related to the political campaign inside the United States. There are three separate segments of public opinion:

First, advocates of a steadily increasing use of military power until there is some sign of willingness on the part of Hanoi to make a mutually satisfactory agreement.

Second, those who favor immediate withdrawal and reliance on the good faith of the Communists to cease aggression and interference with the rights of the people of South Viet Nam to maintain their own government.

Third, those holding the viewpoint expressed by Sen. Strom Thurmond of South Carolina, who says:

"We can win this war in 90 days and wind it up if we want to. We are fighting with one arm tied behind our back. This war has to be taken to the enemy so they feel it... the powerful United States groveling on the ground begging someone to come to the peace table is disgraceful."

Secretary of State Rusk, has reiterated that the United States intends to keep its forces in Viet Nam until "Communist aggression" ceases. He rejects the counsel of those who urge America to "apply maximum power and get it over with."

President Johnson told a news conference that America would order a pause in the fighting only if he had word that the other side would do the same.

FROM A POLITICAL point of view, the administration feels it is advantageous to keep on urging peace, while at the same time maintaining an unrelenting war effort.

With the congressional elections only three weeks away, it is not likely, however, that any important move toward a peace conference will be made this month.

Many Republican nominees for Congress support the administration's policy in Viet Nam. But they are bound to criticize on the stump the President's willingness to make favorable trade relations with Communist-bloc countries which are aiding the North Viet Nam government in its military operations against American forces.

Peace Prayer Asked By Club

In conjunction with its observance of National Business Women's Week, the East Liverpool Business and Professional Women's Club has asked 22 church leaders in East Liverpool, Wellsville, Chester and Newell to offer a special "Prayer for World Peace" during services Sunday in the name of the club.

The following letter, signed by Miss Joan Witt, president of the BPW and captioned "Let the Voices of Women Be Heard in Your Church!", was sent to leaders of various denominations and faiths in the area on Oct. 5.

"Having in mind the many tensions and the great strife in the world today, the spiraling war in Viet Nam which calls more and more of our sons to battle on distant shores, the desire of Communist and other like forces to dominate the world, the race for nuclear supremacy, the riots and heart-break of our country's racial problems, and now the pending crisis within the United Nations

"We, the members of the East Liverpool Business and Professional Women's Club, turn our hearts to God with a fervent prayer for world peace.

"Will you, as the leader of a House of Worship, offer a special Prayer for Peace in the name of our club on Sunday, Oct. 16? On this date, we join with 180,000 members throughout the United States in opening our observance of the 39th annual National Business Women's Week. We know of no better way to begin this commemoration than to join our many voices in many prayers for world peace."

The request for a special prayer is part of a statewide observance by the 10,000 members of the Ohio unit's 174 clubs.

Tuesday Organ Recital To Be Held At Church

Gerald S. Crawford, director of music at the Mt. Lebanon United Presbyterian Church of Pittsburgh, will present a recital on the newly-installed organ of the Grace United Presbyterian Church Tuesday at 8 p.m.

The dean of the Pittsburgh Chapter of the American Guild of Organists, he is a graduate of Northwestern University, Evanston, Ill., studying under the late Dr. Barrett Spach and receiving the degrees of bachelor of music and master of music.

CRAWFORD recently returned from a year of advanced organ study at the Vienna Academy of Music in Austria, where he was a student of the famed organist, composer and conductor, Anton Heiller. Additional study was also done at Haarlem, Holland, in the international Academy of Organists, under the instruction of Heiller, Marie - Clair Alain and Luigi Tagliavini.

He has served as associate organist and choirmaster at Chicago's Fourth Presbyterian Church, where he performed bi-weekly recitals. He was director of music at the First Presbyterian Church of Muncie, Ind., where he was a member of the organ faculty of Ball State University.

Last season, Crawford was chosen by Northwestern University to return there to play in the distinguished alumni organ recital series on the new 100-rank Spofford Memorial Organ in Alice Millar Chapel. He also has appeared as recitalist in Pittsburgh's Carnegie Hall.

THE RECITAL program will include compositions from many periods of organ literature. Major works to be performed include the dramatic "Prelude, Fugue, and Chaconne" of Dietrich Buxtehude, the exciting "Dorian Toccata" by Bach and "Prelude, Fugue and Variation" by Franck. Also included will be the works of Pachelbel, Langlais, Vierne, Wright and Schroeder.

There will be no admission charge, but a free-will offering will be received in the vestibule following the concert. The public is invited to attend.

Parking space will be available in the parking lot of the First Federal Savings and Loan Co. on Pennsylvania Ave., near the church, and also on Virginia Ave. and First Ave.

H. Keith Langdon, chairman of the board of trustees of the church, said if the response is sufficient, a series of such recitals will be planned.

A Warm, Friendly Welcome

Nursery & Primary Nightly

A MOMENT OF MEDITATION

What Can I Expect?

On Monday evening at 7:30 there will be a gospel meeting beginning with the Church of Christ in Chester. The speaker will be Gene West, Evangelist of Moundsville, W. Va. He was formerly a resident of Chester. We would like for you to consider this as your invitation to attend the meeting as much as you possibly can. A cordial welcome awaits you.

Since there will be some who read this article who have never attended a service of the Church of Christ, we want to point out some of the things you might expect to find when you attend.

First, the services are conducted in simplicity without any attempt at glorifying ritual. The acceptability of a service in the sight of God is not determined by the pomp and display but rather by those who worship the Lord in the beauty of holiness. Ps. 29:2. Our worship must be from the heart in sincerity and according to the Word of God. Jno. 4:24.

Second, the preaching that will be done will be from the Word of God. The world is filled with the opinions and ideas of men. These things make the worship of men. Mt. 15:8-9. "This people draweth nigh unto me with their mouth, and honoureth me with their lips; but their heart is far from me. But in vain they do worship me, teaching for doctrines the commandments of men." This meeting is called a "gospel" meeting because the only thing which will be taught will be the gospel of Christ. The gospel will be the power of God unto salvation. Rom. 1:16. God is not with us if we do not abide in the doctrine of Christ. 2 Jno. 9. We are convinced the religious world is divided because men have been teaching ideas and doctrines of men and have not been preaching the Bible only. Peter taught that we are to speak as the oracles of God. 1 Pet. 4:11. Bring your Bibles and study along with us the things that God has spoken in the Word of God.

Third, there will be congregational singing. There will not be any solos or choir singing. All are commanded by God to sing. Eph. 5:19; Col. 3:16. This singing will be done without the use of a piano or organ. God commands that we sing and make melody in our hearts to the Lord.

Fourth, there will not be a collection taken each evening. People have come to think that every religious service is characterized with the passing of a collection plate. This is not so of Churches of Christ. We take a collection only on the first day of the week as the Bible instructs. 1 Cor. 16:2.

These are just a few of the things that you can expect to find when you attend the services of our gospel meeting. If you enjoy plain Bible teaching, you will want to attend the meeting. Your soul is too important to ignore. "Come, let us reason together."

Guess Who Got A Black Eye Playing Football

Would you believe 3-year-old Elizabeth Ann Hickman?

Also known as "Liz."

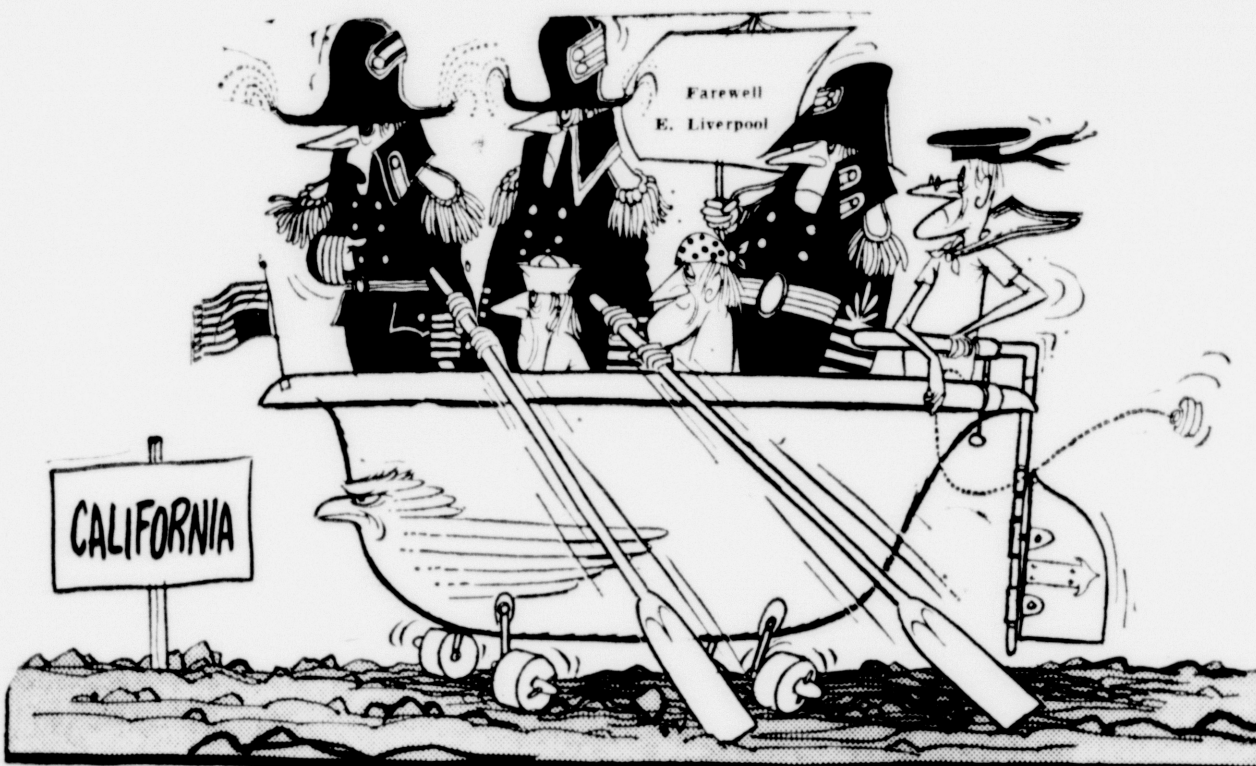

Daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lester Hickman of Bell School Rd., the energetic blue-eyed blonde got banged up by a football while playing with her brother and some neighbor boys earlier this week.

The 36-inch tall, 29-pound scatback got on the wrong end of a ball tossed by her brother, Tim, 8, but just like any real griddle, refused to shed tears and proudly wore her black and blue badge of bravery.

'California, Here We Come'

The Land Of Bilk And Money

By ROBERT POPP

EVER SINCE AN American "army" of expatriates, fugitives from eastern justice and adventurers defeated a lethargic troop of Mexican lancers in 1846 and established the Bear Flag Republic, the wildly-optimistic denizens of California have been seeking to lure their more staid brethren to what they fondly call the Golden State.

Realizing belatedly that they have succeeded only too well, some of the more responsible elements in a state noted worldwide for its wild-eyed types have attempted to stem the whirlwind.

Already crowded cheek by jowl with a population of 19 million, the state unhappily receives 1,460 new residents every day of the year. A state agency that calls itself the Population Reference Bureau says there will be 50 million Californians by the year 2000.

Places that were sleepy villages of orange groves and truck gardens 25 years ago have burgeoned into metropolitan centers in their own right. Prices of land have soared until an ordinary improved lot in an ordinary subdivision goes for as high as $5,000.

And each day's migration adds to the demand for building sites and living space. Los Angeles, which was a sleepy Mexican village of a few adobe huts 100 years ago, has become a metropolitan sprawl of almost solid steel and concrete covering 455 square miles.

THE FIRST Americans to settle in California were adventurers, escaped felons, absconding bankers and beached seamen. They formed the nucleus for the super-Patriotic band which overthrew Mexican authority in a couple of almost bloodless skirmishes and set up their own Republic.

Four years later, when California was admitted to the Union, its boosters started the campaign to lure new population from the East.

The campaign continued without a break until shortly after World War II. Although its era of explosive growth was just beginning, California realized that it need not spend good money to attempt to entice people to do something they intended to do regardless—move west.

By this time, descendants of the original settlers, attempting to set themselves apart from the newcomers, were busy barring applicants from a society called The Sons and Daughters of the Golden West. A covered wagon is the Californian's equivalent of the Mayflower when it comes to tracing ancestry.

The Golden State already had assimilated thousands of ex-citizens of Oklahoma, Arkansas and other Plains States who made their way to the Promised Land in the Dust Bowl days of the 1930's. Thousands more who moved west to work in defense plants during World War II simply stayed when normalcy returned.

And thousands more began the trek to escape the snow and ice of the east and bask in the sunshine of the land of milk and honey.

SMOG, A NAUSEOUS offshoot of industrialization, was just a professional comedian's tag-line in 1945. But 10 years later it had grown to the point that civic leaders quit joking about it and attempted to find a remedy. They're still looking.

For many years, the Los Angeles area has obtained a great percentage of its water supply by tapping the Colorado River far to the east—an act that stirs perennial warfare with the neighboring states of Arizona and Colorado.

Now a plan is under foot to pipe water into the southern section of the state from the Feather River, hundreds of miles to the north. And engineers are talking seriously of the possibility of obtaining water from the Columbia River in Washington, a proposal that has made Washingtonians hopping mad.

The westward migration took some of the nation's best brains and more enterprising spirits to the Los Angeles area. But it also induced migration on the part of a vast horde of professional mendicants, charlatans and fakers, with a heavy mixture of neurotics, psychotics and freaks. They have bred a new generation of beatniks and rabble rousers second to none in the world.

The invasion of thousands and the growing air pollution have driven old-timers to build in the foothills of the Sierra Nevada Mountains and commute long distances each day. Others have moved out of California bodily, shifting to Arizona, Oregon or Nevada.

But the net gain in population still is 1,460 daily. California finds its new schools overcrowded before the first term is completed and its sewer and highway systems overtaxed virtually the moment they are built.

IT ESTIMATES it must spend at least $16,000 for public facilities for each new family that settles there. The result has been an astronomical rise in property taxes to pay off staggering bond issues.

The Population Reference Bureau came up with a proposal for what it coyly calls a "come-in tax" that would be assessed against prospective new residents at the border.

"Why not keep out the improvident and the unemployable and the seekers of hand-outs by requiring each family to pay in cash the $16,000 its migration would cost the state and local governments for new facilities?" it suggested.

But it overlooked the most obvious solution of all for a state that admits it has more people now than it can use. Why not pay them $16,000 each to leave California?

Bet You Thought I Forgot . .

Forget our anniversary?
As well to say
Forget the sun that shines each day;
Or the moon that gleams in a mellow light
On the gloomy kingdom of the night.

Forget our anniversary?
Let it not be said!
For 'twas on this day that we were wed;
I pledged my troth; I gave my vow—
So how could I forget it now?

Forget the Day of Days?
You surely jest!
'Tis the day that I remember best;

'Tis the day you stood, your head all bowed,
Before we two became a crowd!

Forget our anniversary?
Nay, not I.
I may forget to breathe, perhaps—or die;
Or forget, perchance, to draw my pay—
But I'll not forget our wedding day!

Forget our special time? Ah! No—
As well forget last winter's snow;
City income tax; Asian flu,
The Chicago fire or World War II.

And since no gift there is of sufficient worth
To honor thee upon this earth—
Accept this poem—O Love sublime—
A gift I can purchase anytime!

Stamps In The News

Four paintings, full of tradition and folklore, appear on stamps just issued by the Republic of China, reports the World Wide Philatelic Agency. The stamps depict the following: Fishing on a Snowy Day, Cow and Calf on the Plain, Snowscape, Magpies. Each stamp is multi-colored and captures the harmonious colors of the originals.

All the paintings are products of the Golden Age of Chinese Art (700-1400 A.D.). They represent collections of many emperors and form part of the treasure now housed in the Chungshan Museum.

The Chinese Nationalist government started this series of stamps in 1960 to introduce the beauty and splendor of early Chinese culture. Previous issues illustrated paintings entitled: Two Horses and Groom, Two Riders, Flowers and Birds, Mandarin Ducks. In 1962 paintings of ancient emperors Li-Shih-min, Chao Kwang-yin, Ghengis Khan and Chu Yuan-Chang appeared.

COLLECTORS of coins will be interested to know that the American Numismatic Association has finalized plans for its new headquarters located in Colorado Springs, Colorado. The new mailing address and the place to send inquiries for all matters on coins is: American Numismatic Association, P.O. Box 2366, Colorado Springs, Colo., 80901.

THE REPUBLIC of China plans to issue the first of seven pictorial stamps of flying geese, reports the World Wide Philatelic Agency. This set will be followed by three airmails and four regular pictorials featuring Taiwan handicraft.

GREASE HAS issued two stamps. One stamp commemorates the return of the skull of St. Andrew to the Greek Church by the Vatican.

The relic will be placed in the Cathedral of Patras where the saint was crucified. The second stamp marks the 50th anniversary of the foundation of the Greek Post Office Savings Service.

MANY NATIONS throughout the world will be issuing Kennedy memorial stamps. Chile's commemorative shows a world globe encircled by the words "Alianza Para Progreso," the Alliance for Progress, which the late President Kennedy espoused. Mexico has issued an 80-cent airmail stamp depicting President Kennedy shaking hands with Mexico's President Adolfo Lopez Mateos as they ratified the Chamizal Treaty on July 18, 1963.

IS FINE ART more popular than a big bridge? U.S. stamp collectors say no. The Post Office Department announced that there were 619,780 first-day covers canceled on Nov. 21 bearing the 5-cent Verazano Narrows Bridge commemorative stamp and 1,173,129 stamps sold. There were 558,046 covers canceled when the 5-cent Fine Arts commemorative stamp was first placed on sale Dec. 2. Total sale of these stamps that day was $31,348.

Q. — How can I join lace so that it will not be noticeable?

A. — Try to patch the design over on the same design, carefully whipping one on the other. If artfully done, the place where the lace is joined will hardly be noticeable. Do not make a French seam when joining lace.

Q. — How can I remove daubs and splashes of paint from window glass?

A. — Just rub gently with fine steel wool.

for Houdon to come to America to accept the commission.

General Washington recorded the arrival of Houdon in his diary thus: "Sunday, October 2, 1785: After we were in bed, about 11 o'clock in the evening, Mr. Houdon, sent from France by Doctor Franklin and Mr. Jefferson to take my bust, in behalf of the State of Virginia, with three young men assistants, introduced by a Mr. Perin, a French Gentleman of Alexandria, arrived here by Water from the latter place."

Sculptor John Flanagan was the second designer to put the fasces on a general circulation coin of the United States. The bundle of arrows bound with a ribbon is a stylized version of the Roman symbol of authority—a bundle of sticks centered by a battle-axe and bound with a red band.

Flanagan's initials JF may be found at the truncation of the neck of Washington.

Although the Washington quarter is considered one of the coins in the presidential series, the likeness is actually that of General Washington four years before he became president. It was modeled from the famous bust created by sculptor Jean-Antoine Houdon during his visit to Mount Vernon in 1785.

The Houdon bust was made at the insistence of the Virginia legislature which resolved that measures be taken to procure a statue of General Washington, of the finest marble and best workmanship. Benjamin Franklin, our ambassador to France, arranged

Outdoor Notes

By HARRY STEWART
Review Staff Member

IF YOU HAVE EVER walked through the woods, perhaps along an old trail or abandoned roadway, and have been startled out of your wits by a thunderous whir and a flash of something going through the tree tops, you have met Mr. Ruffed Grouse.

Grouse provide some of the most exciting and probably the fastest shooting for hunters in any state.

When the woods change colors and there is a sweet, sort of musky smell from the fallen leaves, it is grouse time. And that time is now.

Grouse season opened Friday in Ohio and today in Pennsylvania.

Most of Ohio's grouse are found in the eastern part of the state and Columbiana and Jefferson Counties have good populations of this bird. Game management personnel for the Ohio Division of Wildlife report there is an "excellent" population.

Grouse hunting provides a thrill you will not find with any other type of game.

They are truly unpredictable and although grouse prefer certain types of cover, you will find them in the most unusual places at various times.

Here in Columbiana County I would say the best place to look for them is anywhere along Beaver Creek.

Grouse especially like areas that have been timbered over. The fallen tree tops, heavy underbrush and thickets that result when a woods has been cut for timber provides excellent cover.

GROUSE ALSO are very fond of wild grape vine thickets. The thicker, the better. They will feed on fruit, berries and seeds, but seem to be particularly attracted to grapes.

Dark brown, spotted feathers give them a natural camouflage. You can walk by and never see them. You may hear them and look after you have recovered your senses, but often you may only see a blur.

At times grouse will flush way out ahead of you. Other times they will wait until you are up close and then again they might just wait until you have passed.

They will flush just when you are bent over, trying to work your way through an entanglement of vines. They will take off when you are standing on one side of a tree and they are on the other. They will fly out from beneath your feet as you are climbing over a log.

The noise is frightening. Even after you have hunted them for a while and have gotten over the initial scare, the anticipation of the next flush is almost unbearable.

Grouse will feed early in the morning and late in the afternoon and evening. During the day, they will seek out small open spots on the ground, especially along a large tree or log warmed by the sun. They will nestle down in the leaves, blending in to where it is virtually impossible to see them.

Because of all these traits, a good bird dog is a great asset. But, any hunting dog that will work through heavy brush is a help.

Grouse can fly exceedingly fast and have a habit of darting, swerving, turning, tumbling and using every tree, bush and contour of the land to hide themselves from you while flying.

Most of the time you have just one quick shot. It is necessary to utilize your hearing, instinctively knowing from the sound which direction the grouse is going. Then you must whirl, in the same motion bring your gun to your shoulder, spot the bird and fire.

Then if you are like me, you will find you missed. I have burned up a lot of ammunition this way, but keep going back for more.

Grouse hunting is thrilling, especially on the steep hillsides in this area. Give it a try.

These birds also are very tasty. Small, but delicious.

BIG GAME HUNTERS continue to return from western states with stories of exceptionally good luck.

D. D. Sprouse of 1056 Jennings Ave. shot an antelope near Medicine Bow, Wyo., which proved very unusual.

Stoffel, Sprouse and Patterson win trophies.

The horns form a complete loop and overlap. They are six inches at the base and ivory tipped, an indication of a good rack.

The horns have brought comment everywhere. Sprouse says. When he checked it through the game station in Wyoming, the officials said they had never seen one like it. The packing house employees where he had the animal butchered made similar comments.

Sprouse brought the head back home to have it mounted and was told the same thing by a taxidermist. He plans to contact the Boone and Crockett Club to see if the trophy is worthy of being recorded in the non-typical class.

Patrolman Eli Bratich of Midland displays his mountain goat, shot on a trip to Montana.

Sprouse's party consisted by Charles Stoffel of Wellsville, John Patterson of Industry, Joe Machupa of Midland and Pat Cody of the Industry-Fairview Rd.

They hunted 10 days. Each shot a mule deer and antelope. Game was plentiful and all scored on the opening day for each animal except Sprouse, who shot his antelope on the second day of the season.

EVER WONDER how many species of fish are in Beaver Creek? So have many others and the answer may be forthcoming.

The word is that test nets might be placed in some of the deep holes near the mouth of the creek, up from the Ohio River, sometime next spring.

Bass are abundant in the creek as are catfish, rock bass, carp, suckers, bluegills, chubs and there also are a few pike. There is some thought the pike are increasing and also some persons have a theory there just might be a muskie or two in the waters.

No definite plans have been made for the netting, but those in charge are definitely interested.

THE BEAVER POPULATION in Columbiana County still remains good. Trapping has been permitted in the past because of the number and a census being taken by Ralph Drake, county game protector, indicates there still are quite a few around.

Ralph says he has not seen very many fishermen while making the beaver survey. Just one or two now and then. The weather hasn't been very good for fishing, which is a shame because now is one of the best times of the year to catch big bass.

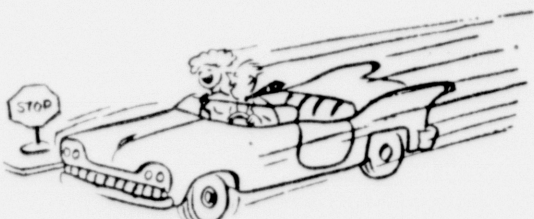

If the weatherman cooperates next week, I hope to try my luck. For added sport, if you are fishing Beaver Creek, take along your shotgun. You might see a squirrel. The old smoke-pole won't do you any good at home, so take it with you.

For ease in carrying your gun, fit it with a sling. There are special clamps made to fit shotguns.

Squirrel hunting is light in the county. Ralph says there is a good supply of bushytails but few hunters.

"You kill me, Freddie!"

George and Susan

Problem . . .

You're a squirrel. You're hungry. But between you and a peanut, there's glass. Result: Instant bottled squirrel. Art Rogers, a photographer at Big Bear, Calif., baited a bottle and waited for hours for some animal to come along. The squirrel ate the peanut while in the bottle, then crawled out and sat waiting for more. (UPI Telephoto)

The Old Timer

"Some people's idea of progress is to improve everything but themselves."

You And The Law

Jimmy and his wife decided to sell their house and move to Florida. They contracted a real estate agent, put their house up for sale and then left for the beach.

Jimmy told the agent before he left that he wanted $18,000 for the house. A month later Jimmy received in the mail a printed real estate contract filled in by the agent and signed by a prospective buyer. The price stated in this contract was $12,000.

JIMMY AND his wife did not want to sell for that price.

They called the agent and told him they would not sell for $12,000, but that they would sign the contract and mail it back, and when the agent received it he could negotiate further with the prospective buyers and get them to offer at least $16,000. If the agent got $16,000, he could amend the contract by striking out $12,000 and putting $16,000 in the blank. If he could not get $16,000 he should tear up the signed contract. The agent said he would do just that.

The agent did not follow these instructions, however. He delivered the signed contract to the buyers and Jimmy and his wife were compelled to sell their house for $12,000.

Jimmy made a serious mistake in signing a contract which contained provisions he did not like and relying on someone else to amend it after it was signed. There is a rule of law that, in general, a person cannot sign a paper and then later testify that what he signed did not represent the agreement between him and the other party.

AN EQUALLY important warning is: Don't sign a contract or document in reliance on someone's assurance that you will not be bound by what you have signed.

Sales agreements often contain a paragraph saying that this signed agreement represents the entire contract and that salesmen are not authorized to make any contrary agreements.

Nevertheless, some salesmen — too anxious to earn their commissions or too unscrupulous to worry — often assure customers that the contract will be changed, or even ignored, after they have signed it.

Putting the matter in simple language, be hard-nosed when you are asked to sign your name. Believe what the paper says, not what anyone tells you. After you have signed, it will be the paper that counts, not the words of a salesman.

Hints For Home

RESPECT TIME

"Time seems to be important to all of us as we rush through each day. Each of us has the same 24-hour day to waste or to spend wisely. But sometimes, without planning it to be so, it is easy to waste most of a day and the day of others," reminds Mrs. Ruth F. Funk, Beaver County Home Economist.

You can help others, including your family, friends and acquaintances, to get the most out of each day if you practice punctuality.

This means being on time for medical and business appointments, the hairdresser, as well as meetings. Being on time for an interview could mean the difference in your being chosen for a position over someone else.

When you are invited to a coffee, tea or reception, you may leave after being there 30 minutes, or soon after you have been served.

Do not be guilty of staying at an open house, or any party that is a come-and-go affair, past the hour for which you were invited. If your invitation says 8 until 9 o'clock, make sure you leave before 9 p.m., for other people have been invited for the next hour.

If your invitation does not specify a later time, it means just that, you are invited to spend the evening.

A dinner invitation means you should arrive five or ten minutes before the dinner hour. If you are the hostess, you need not keep other guests waiting more than 15 minutes for the latecomer.

So do practice being on time — it is such a nice courtesy, and it is important to you and to others.

Here Are Nine Newspaperboys who have been managing their own business for four years or longer. We salute these and all newspaperboys today, National Newspaperboy Day. They perform a valuable service every day of the year. The future of our community is strengthened by these enterprising young businessmen.

These boys along with many other Review newspaperboys have learned much in their service time about the fundamentals of good business practices and the importance of providing the best service possible to their subscribers, they also gain a grater understanding about how to handle money and to deal with the public.

Their carrier work has other rewards. Along with their profits they have earned various prizes plus all expense paid trips to many interesting and educational places.

Most newspaperboys have found that their routes pay better than most jobs available to teen-agers especially for the time required.

Not all today's leaders were carriers, but of those who were, all will tell you that the training newspaperboys get is one of the big stepping stones to success. He gets a headstart in practicing business management, salesmanship and public relations. This type of training and experience carries over into manhood. That is why many business men, when selecting new employees, give preference to young men who have been successful newspaperboys.

With this in mind may we ask you to join us in a salute to them, each and every one, because we know that the future of our city and our country will be in their hands soon.

Two Nurses Die, 2,250 Inoculated Against Hepatitis

NEW YORK (AP) — More than 2,250 employees, patients and visitors at Brooklyn's Coney Island Hospital were being inoculated against hepatitis today following the death of two nurses who had attended a hepatitis victim, the city Health Department said.

Before their deaths, the nurses displayed jaundice, indicating they may have been suffering from the infectious liver disease. One of the special-duty nurses died Thursday, the other two weeks ago. Autopsies have not been completed. The gamma globulin inoculation program was expected to be completed today.

Bond Legislation Awaits Action Of Council Monday

Legislation under which outstanding city notes totaling about $229,000 will be converted into bonds is scheduled for presentation to Council at its second October meeting Monday night at 8.

The debt, incurred for major municipal projects, includes: About $125,000 used for establishment of off-street parking lots; approximately $100,000 for purchase of the former Valley Motor Transit Co. car barn on Pennsylvania Ave., and $4,000 representing anticipated special assessments to be collected for the second of two Fisher Park sanitary sewer jobs.

In each instance, the notes were issued in anticipation of the sale of bonds for long-term financing. The city follows the practice for all major purchases and projects. The notes usually are converted into bonds within a year of the initial borrowing, primarily because of the lower interest rate on bonds.

Solicitor Joseph W. Cooper pointed out the issuance of the bonds does not mean the city is taking on new debts, but rather that the short-term financing with notes is being changed to longer-term amortization with bonds. The bonds for the parking lot projects will be self-liquidating with the revenue provided by the lots, he pointed out.

Wellsville Scores 28-12 Homecoming Win Over Mingo

By BOB DUFFY
Review Sports Editor

The homecoming ceremony at Wellsville was complete Friday night with the last item on the program a 28-12 victory over visiting Mingo Junction before some 2,000 fans at Nicholson Stadium.

Wellsville hit the scoreboard three times in the first 13 minutes to put a winless Mingo team behind the "eight ball" for the remainder of the evening.

While Mingo, which fielded a young team, dropped its sixth straight of the season, Wellsville put its record at 500 with a 3-3 mark.

LEADING 22-12 at halftime, the Tigers scored only once in the second half, but had control of the ball most of the final 24 minutes.

The game was less than three minutes old when Todd Weekley, idle from the touchdown column since the first game of the season, streaked 21 yards for the initial score. A Rich Hall-to-Bob Morehead pass made it 8-0.

The touchdown came with 9:51 still remaining in the opening period.

Weekley was responsible for setting up the second touchdown when he raced 45 yards to put the ball on the Mingo 11. Jack Young, on a fourth down play, lugged the ball eight yards at the end zone to up his point total in the district scoring race. Young's TD came with 2:50 left in the first quarter.

Tigers Even Season Record At 3-3

END MORRIS McCune was responsible for Wellsville's third touchdown which came on the first play of the second quarter.

McCune put a fast rush on Mingo punter Tom Tate, blocked the ball, kept his feet and recovered for the Tigers on the Indians 30.

On first down from this point, Hall found Morehead in the clear for another TD. Young tacked on the conversion with a run to push the score to 22-0.

MINGO capitalized on two breaks and got back into the game. The Indians turned an intercepted pass into their first touchdown.

Ben DiFabbio grabbed a pass thrown by Hall at the Wellsville 38. Tate, who completed 13 of 22 passes, flipped 12 yards to John DiAngelo for a first down on the 26. DiFabbio picked up 16 more and then Tate threw a 16-yard touchdown pass to Jim Petrella as Wellsville stopped the run for the conversion.

Mingo scored with 3:22 left in the half and then took advantage of a bad snap from center on a punt to score its second touchdown.

Bob Duffield was back to punt on his own 25 but the snap was low and he was downed on the Wellsville 27.

MINGO didn't waste any time and drove to the one where Bill Jackson plunged over with 10 seconds left in the period bringing the score to 22-12.

Wellsville opened the second half by driving 80 yards to the Mingo nine only to see the Indians stiffen as the drive fized.

After Mingo punted from its own 12, Wellsville took over on the Indians 44. With Dick Stevens, Young and Weekley sharing the ball carrying, the Tigers moved to the Mingo one where Hall went the last yard for the touchdown with 8:34 left in the game to cap the scoring.

WELLSVILLE'S backfield showed a well-balanced running effort with Weekley, Young and Stevens all turning in their share of the yardage.

ONE OF WELLSVILLE'S leading ground gainers Friday night, Dick Stevens, (40) is brought down by three Mingo defenders after picking up yardage for the Tigers in last night's victory over Mingo Junction.

5,000 Expected At Patterson Field

Musuraca Listed Doubtful For Beaver Falls Contest

East Liverpool's hopes of a fourth straight victory dipped at one halfback spot with Bill Jones opening at fullback. Musuraca has been alternating at both positions throughout the first five games.

UPWARDS of 5,000 fans are expected to see the two schools meet for the first time since 1915 when Beaver Falls walked off with a 25-0 decision. Kickoff tonight will be at 7:45.

Coach Larry Bruno is bringing a football team of his to his hometown for the first time. The Tigers and Potters both own identical 4-1 records and have won their last three contests. The only loss suffered by Beaver Falls was to Sharon by a 16-12 margin while East Liverpool's lone defeat was to a Pennsylvania team—Midland.

THE POTTERS will be pinning their hopes on the triple threat skills of quarterback Mike McVay along with the speed of halfback Darryl Herring and a stout defense which has given up only two touchdowns in the last three games.

The Potters will be concerned with the running of Tiger fullback Herb Braxton a hard hitting 195 pounder who has averaged 110 yards each game along with the passing of junior quarterback Bill Ross.

MUSURACA has flashed keen running ability and is the Potters second leading scorer with 30 points to his credit.

If Musuraca can't play, Coach Bob McNea is expected to start

Injuries Plague Beavers

Western Beaver Drops 4th By 12-0 Margin To Center

Injuries plagued the fledgling Western Beaver as five of their stars were either sidelined or exposed to only limited action in a game the Golden Beavers lost 13-0 to Center Township Friday night.

The Trojans launched their attack after WB quarterback John Petchel had a third-down pass picked off by right guard Chuck Winlow who ran from his own 32 to the Beaver 7. The victors had the ball called back to the 36 on a clipping penalty but six plays later quarterback Rich Giska scored on a keeper from the three with 9:45 left in the half. The conversion attempt failed.

In the third quarter an exchange of punts put Center Township on their own 21 and they marched 79 yards for a score. Highlighting the drive were runs of 17 and 11 yards by Chris Antoline and a 21-yard run.

Center Township had two touchdowns called back. With about 20 seconds left in the half, a double reverse was pulled off 4 from Ed Zupsic to McMillan. He pitched to Giska who threw 14 He pitched to Giska who threw 14 He pitched to Giska who threw 14

The defeat was the fifth in a row and sixth in seven games for Oak Glen while Philip-Barbour evened its season record at 3-3.

The winners led by Dick Snyder's three touchdowns scored twice in the opening period. Snyder went five yards to register the first TD then Bob Shaffer plunged one yard to produce a 13-0 lead. One placement conversion was good while the second was blocked.

Oak Glen bounced back to cut the margin to 13-7 when Bob Miller took a 23-yard TD pass from sophomore quarterback Craig Whittington and Harold Marshall booted the extra point.

Before the half was over Snyder scored from the one and Campbell added the conversion for a 20-7 margin at intermission.

NBA To Launch Season Tonight

BOSTON (AP) — The Boston Celtics raise the National Basketball Association championship flag for the eighth straight year and then launch a bid for another title tonight as the league opens its 21st season with all 10 teams in action.

Apparently stronger than ever with the acquisition of veterans Bailey Howell and Wayne Embry and a couple of standout rookies, the Celtics kick off the campaign against the San Francisco Warriors at the Garden.

Bill Russell, whose arrival from the University of San Francisco and the U.S. Olympic squad started the Boston dynasty a decade ago, will make his debut as player-coach.

Red Auerbach, who coached the Celtics to championships in nine of the past 10 years before turning over the reins to Russell last spring, will chew his cigar and probably chide his officials—from a seat in the stands for the first time in 20 years. Auerbach gave up coaching to devote full time to duties as general manager.

The Celtics bolstered themselves where they needed it most last month in obtaining Philadelphia, coached by Alex Hannum, who led the Warriors last season, will open at home against New York.

Embry, a big, rugged center, from Cincinnati. Embry, due to spell Russell, is nursing a pulled muscle and may not see action against San Francisco.

Also ready to give a helping hand are rookies Jim Barnett, a top draft choice from Oregon; Toby Kimball, former Connecticut star who played in Italy last year, and Ron Watts, who starred at Wake Forest before spending his first pro season as a member of the Boston taxi squad last season. Watts won the 12th spot as the Celtics got down to the player limit Friday night by asking waivers on veteran Art Heyman.

San Francisco will make its debut under new coach Bill Sharman, a former Boston star whose Celtics' No. 2 will be retired with Tom Heinsohn's No. 1 before the game.

Other new coaches are Mike Farmer, whose Baltimore Bullets will open at home against the Los Angeles Lakers, and former NBA star John Kerr, whose Chicago Bulls will launch their first year in the league at St. Louis.

Philadelphia, coached by Alex Hannum, who led the Warriors last season, will open at home against New York.

Four other Clipper backs accounted for the scoring with Bill Ward, Al Ridel and Morris going one yard each while Rich Ditwiler scored on a five-yard jaunt.

Columbiana had built a 46-0 lead before Leetonia scored on an electrifying 90-yard kickoff return by Ken DiCross.

NFL Eye Focused On Cards, Dallas

By The Associated Press

The St. Louis Cardinals, who insist they're a 60-minute club but keep doing the job in half an hour, should have little time to spare when they tackle super-charged Dallas Sunday in a National Football League showdown.

A capacity crowd of 50,000—largest ever for a pro football game in St. Louis—is expected to watch the Cardinals and Cowboys, only unbeaten NFL teams, tangle in a pivotal Eastern Conference test.

St. Louis leads the East with a 5-0 record, with Dallas one-half game back at 4-0. But, while the Cardinals have come from behind four times in the second half, the Cowboys, led by quarterback Don Meredith, have breezed along, rolling up an average of just under 46 points per game.

"We're a 60-minute ball club," Larry Wilson, the Cardinals' aggressive defensive back, said before last Sunday's game against New York. Then the Cardinals, behind 13-0 at halftime, staged a furious second half rally for a 24-19 nod over the winless Giants. St. Louis has outscored its opponents 101-16 after intermission.

"Things happen to us in the first half, but we keep coming," said Charlie Winner, St. Louis' first-year coach. "We will have to be consistent to beat the Cowboys. They're the finest football team I've seen in a long time."

Meredith leads the NFL in passing, has thrown for 14 touchdowns and has not been intercepted in his last 12 games. Bob Hayes, his swiftest receiver, has caught seven touchdown passes, and halfback Dan Reeves is the league's top scorer with eight TDs—five via passes.

Torres Rates Favorite In Title Battle

SAN JUAN, P.R. (AP) — Jose Torres is supremely confident of retaining his world's lightweight championship tonight in his 15-round title bout against challenger Chic Calderwood of Glasgow, Scotland.

"I'll win," said Torres without any ifs or buts. A native-born Puerto Rican who now lives in New York, Torres wants to impress the home folks.

Calderwood isn't making any prediction. "Let's see what happens in the fight," is all the challenger said.

It will be the third title defense for the 30-year-old Torres since he won the crown from Willie Pastrano in March, 1965. He gained a controversial decision over the veteran Eddie Cotton of Seattle, Wash., in his last defense, making his over-all record 38-1-1. He won an easy unanimous decision over Wayne Thornton of Fresno, Calif., in his first defense.

The 29-year-old Calderwood, who like Torres sparred more than 100 rounds in training, has a 47-5-1 record. He is ranked No. 1 challenger by Ring Magazine and fought Piero Del Papa in Italy for the European title last summer. The bout was called in the sixth round because of rain, with no decision.

A crowd of 15,000 is expected to see the outdoor bout in Hiram Bithorn Stadium.

Pro Football Merger Bill Seen Bright

By TOM SEPPY

Associated Press Sports Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — The proposed merger of the American and National Football Leagues, seemingly stopped at the 50-yard line, moved to within inches of the goal line today on an end run by a wily legislative veteran, Sen. Everett M. Dirksen of Illinois.

Dirksen attached an amendment to legalize the merger onto a much-amended bill to suspend the 7 per cent investment credit tax, which the senate passed by voice vote Friday.

The bill, a "must" on President Johnson's program, now goes back to the House but not to the Judiciary Committee headed by Rep. Emanuel Celler, D-N.Y., who has held up approval of similar Senate legislation exempting the proposed merger from antitrust laws.

Chances are bright for the football merger amendment because the legislation will go to a conference committee, probably on Monday, with the House conferees coming from the Ways and Means committee.

A high-ranking member of Ways and Means is Rep. Hale Boggs, D-La., the acting House majority leader. Boggs is in a staff re-election campaign and the football merger is a popular issue in his home city of New Orleans, which hopes for a franchise in the combined league.

Dirksen's tactics Friday will enable the bill to bypass Celler's committee. Acceptance by the House and Senate of the report on the compromise bill is all that is needed for passage.

The bill that would give limited antitrust exemption for the merger and result in a championship game between the National and American leagues next January appeared doomed Thursday.

Cellar had said action on the measure this session was unlikely because Congress hopes to adjourn Oct. 22. Several witnesses still were to be heard by his committee.

NFL Commissioner Pete Rozelle has said he would recommend that the merger be called off if it was not given congressional approval.

Dirksen was able to maneuver the new bill past the Celler commissions and attach it as a rider to the tax bill because, he said, it provided certain provisions for the professional football clubs.

The Republican senator said the amendment would provide special tax treatment for four charity professional football games.

Dirksen also said several teams are in precarious financial condition because of salary commitments made during the recent warfare between the leagues. He did not identify the four teams.

The cable car was invented in 1873 by S. Hallidie, to be used on the steep hills in the city of San Francisco. Ever since they have been a landmark and tourist attraction. They run on rails and are pulled by an endless steel cable moving in a slot beneath the street surface.

ATOMIC ENERGY

QUESTION: How can atomic energy generate electricity?

ANSWER: Electric power is produced by generators. These are spinning loops of wire rotating between magnets, producing electricity which can be used for lighting and many other purposes. Some force must spin the generator. That of falling water is often used, working turbines which in turn rotate generators. The turbines may be turned by the force of steam, which comes from water heated by burning coal or fuel oil, or by atomic energy. Check the top picture.

An atomic chain reaction takes place inside a reactor (1) and produces great amounts of heat. This is used to heat water in boilers (2) from which steam to spin the turbine. The turbine in turn spins the generator and so produces electricity (3). Atomic power plants use much less fuel than other kinds. The reactor's fuel is uranium, and a tablespoonful of this will produce as much energy as will 750 tons of coal. In spite of this, the atomic process is so expensive that few atomic power plants are in use in the U. S. at present, though more may be built later on.

FOR YOU TO DO: Clip out this article and picture to paste in your science scrapbook and watch for other articles in your newspaper on atomic power.

Jay Waxman of Baltimore, Md., wins today's combined prize of Compton's Illustrated Science Dictionary plus $10 cash for this question. Mail yours on a postcard to Junior Editors in care of The Review.

Vaccination Campaign Set For Hancock

A countryside vaccination cam-paign designed to raise protec-tion levels against six danger-ous but preventable diseases will begin Monday, Dr. R. E. Flood, Hancock County health officer, announced today.

Emphasis of the campaign, sponsored by the local health department and the West Vir-ginia State Department of Health, is being placed on the need for immunization of the under-five age group unprotected against diphtheria, pertussis (whooping cough) tetanus (lock-jaw) smallpox, measles and polio. Surveys conducted by per-sonnel of the state health de-partment show that some 98,000 children under 5 in the state have never been vaccinated against these diseases.

The program will get under way with teams of volunteers visiting all homes in the area and registering pre - school chil-dren who have not yet begun or have not completed their basic immunizations. Other chil-dren in the families in need of further protection or basic im-munizations will be registered and instructed to take a registra-tion card to their private doctor.

"We hope by registering all pre - school children, we will be able to inoculate 100 per cent of children living through-out the county, thereby giving them the much needed protec-tion that they deserve," Dr. Flood said, "but we can only protect them if their parents co-operate."

State and local governments received grants under the fed-eral government's Vaccination Assistance Act to provide vac-cine and administration to im-munize the unprotected popula-tion. The Hancock County cam-paign is part of the program. Similar projects have been launched in a majority of the counties and will eventually in-clude all state counties.

This program is being con-ducted by the health chairman and pre - school chairman of the local PTA groups.

Tobin And Ursu Ask Safety Steps At Intersection

LISBON — Two Columbiana County officials have written to the State Highway Department relative to the "exceedingly dan-gerous" intersection of Routes 558 and 7 at East Fair-field.

Judge Louis Tobin and John Ursu, county engineer, called the hazard to the attention of Earl W. Nelson, deputy direc-tor of Division 11 at New Phila-delphia.

Tobin pointed out the location was the scene of a fatality this year and the intersection is list-ed frequently in juvenile traf-fic cases heard in his court.

Route 558 (Salem to East Pal-estine) is joined by Route 517 (Lisbon to East Fairfield) a few hundred feet west of Route 7.

Route 558 traffic approaching Route 7 from the west and in-tending to cross it or turn north or south cannot see Route 7 from either direction, the writ-ers said. "They have to have the complete front part of their vehicle on Route 7 before they can see an extremely danger-ous procedure."

The officials asked the direc-tor to check the location and have a conference with us to see what can be done to make this road safe."
